

SOUTH WHIDBEY CHILDREN’S CENTER

Winter at the Children’s Center

The holiday season was filled with festive fun. Sunflower students walked around Langley singing carols.

We are enjoying winter at the Children’s Center, the snow was a fan favorite amongst the kids. The last month, we hosted our annual “classroom potlucks”. These events were a wonderful time for families to meet each other in a social setting and for them to get to know our teachers better. In the classrooms, the Stars are exploring art with crayons and markers. They draw dots and circles; this is the building block of shape recognition and literacy. The Honey Bears are enjoying manipulatives, art projects, and gross motor activities in the body room. The Sunflowers walk to the Langley Library for story time once a week. We are so thankful to be surrounded by all the joyful children who make our days happy and bright!

Join Our Board!

We are in need of parents and community members to join our board. We meet monthly, in person or over zoom, to discuss and vote on the center’s operations. If you or someone you know is able to volunteer time, please let us know. Contact our director at caitlin.voss@swchildrenscenter.com if you are interested.
